From the MAYOR'S DESK

Understanding Sherwood's Wastewater Systems

There has been confusion about wastewater systems in Sherwood stemming from information shared on social media during the bond initiative. My hope is that this article will be educational, informative, and reassuring.

During periods of heavy rainfall, especially when large amounts of rain fall in a short period, stormwater can infiltrate a wastewater system. This occurs when sewer lines develop cracks that allow water to enter. Over time, this can happen due to the materials used to make the pipes, the age of the pipes, or even tree roots. In some cases, pipes must be replaced; in others, a rubberized liner can be inserted to seal the existing pipes. Sometimes the problem is not the pipe itself but the manhole, where infiltration may also occur.

When a system receives too much stormwater, it can cause wastewater to overflow from a manhole. All wastewater systems experience this issue to some degree. If you ever observe this happening, it is important to report it to the appropriate wastewater district. Emergency contact numbers are provided at the end of this article.

Each sewer district or utility operates independently and is regulated by state and federal guidelines. Their budgets are funded by the rates charged to the residents and businesses they serve, and each district determines its own rates. Homeowners are responsible for the sewer line from their home to the sewer easement. Once the line reaches the sewer easement, maintenance becomes the responsibility of the wastewater district or utility.

There are several wastewater systems operating in Sherwood, including the Runyan Sewer Improvement District, Gravel Ridge Sewer District, North Little Rock Wastewater Utility, and the Sherwood Wastewater Utility. As Sherwood continues to develop beyond Bayou Meto, Jacksonville Wastewater Utility will serve that area. If you are unsure which district or utility serves your property, you can check your water bill or visit the City of Sherwood's official website (Sherwoodar.gov) and view the wastewater map.

Runyan Sewer Improvement District #211 has been in operation since approximately 1964. It is governed by three commissioners who serve lifetime appointments. Bob Evans has overseen operations for many years and has been with the district since around 1990. The district serves approximately 1,550 connections, with 80–90% located in the county. In 2021, the district conducted a sewer system evaluation study. Based on the results, extensive line and manhole rehabilitation was completed. The district is currently in the process of replacing its existing treatment plant due to the plant's age and its inability to meet current state discharge standards. The new plant is expected to be online and in compliance by mid-2026. Due to the scope of these projects, a substantial rate increase was approved by the commissioners in 2025 to finance the new plant. This increase was structured in three phases, and the district is currently in the second phase. Once the new plant is completed, Mr. Evans stated the district will be in good condition for many years.

The contact number for problems or emergencies within district #211, call 501-834-0473.

Gravel Ridge Sewer District #213 has been in operation since approximately 1975. It is governed by four commissioners who also serve lifetime appointments. The district is currently receiving bids for service line and manhole rehabilitation projects, which will reduce stormwater infiltration and improve overall system efficiency. A rate increase was approved by the commission approximately one year ago to finance this work. The district serves around 1,500 connections. Mark Phillips manages the operation. For problems or emergencies, call 501-690-3490.

North Little Rock Wastewater Utility was established around 1962 and is the largest regional wastewater system in the state. Areas of Sherwood served by this utility include West Lee, Maryland, Bear Paw, and Dee Jay Hudson. The utility is overseen by a five-member committee with staggered five-year terms and no term limits. Members are appointed by the mayor and approved by the North Little Rock City Council. The committee reviews program proposals, infrastructure investments, and the annual budget. Any sewer rate changes or bond issuances approved by the committee must also be approved by the City Council. In February 2022, the City Council approved a series of rate increases beginning in April 2022, with the final increase scheduled for January 2026. These increases were implemented to generate revenue needed for system repairs. The Executive Director is Michael Clayton. For problems or emergencies, call 501-945-7186.

Sherwood Wastewater Utility serves 6,212 connections and is the only wastewater system directly controlled by the City of Sherwood. The utility includes two treatment plants (North and South) and a satellite system. It is funded entirely by user fees. While the City Council approves the budget, the utility can only spend the revenue it generates, and its reserves are maintained separately. State law requires an annual private audit, which is submitted to the state for review.

The satellite system is located in the southern part of the city and includes sewer lines owned by both Sherwood and North Little Rock. All wastewater from this area is treated at North Little Rock's Five Mile Plant near Trammel Road. Sherwood Wastewater Utility pays North Little Rock Wastewater Utility to treat wastewater from approximately 2,500 Sherwood connections. Most of the wastewater treated at this plant originates from North Little Rock, not Sherwood.

In 2024, the Sherwood City Council approved its first sewer rate increase since 2016. This increase was structured in three phases, with the final phase occurring in January 2026. The increase supports repairs and rehabilitation of sewer lines, manholes, and overall operations. A $7 million project is scheduled to begin in January 2026, with Crist Engineering awarded the project.

This project focuses on the satellite system and includes interceptor lines (larger sewer lines) and manholes, which are among the city's oldest infrastructure and the source of many system issues. Crist Engineering will conduct evaluations, engineering, and flow metering analysis. Once completed, the project will be put out for bid. Rehabilitating these lines and manholes will significantly reduce stormwater infiltration and help prevent overflows.

The project area extends from Trammel Road to Coolhurst, travels to Henson Park, crosses Club Road, turns toward Highway 107, and ends at 900 Club Road. Oversight is provided by an advisory committee consisting of five members appointed by the mayor and approved by the City Council. Members serve staggered five-year terms with no term limits. Any major changes, including rate increases, must first be reviewed by the Wastewater Committee and then approved by the City Council. Scott Greenwood has managed the Sherwood Wastewater Utility since 2017. For problems or emergencies, call 501-833-4418.

Hopefully, this information has provided some insight into the complexity of Sherwood's wastewater structure and the work being done to maintain and improve it. While the systems are varied and independently operated, each is taking responsible steps to ensure reliable service and long-term stability for the community.

Sincerely,

2nd Annual

WINTER FEST

From Parade to Drone Show: Winter Fest Delivers Holiday Magic

The second annual Winter Fest was truly merry and brilliantly bright, at least in spirit, since everyone who was there knows the sun decided not to join the festivities. From an action-packed parade featuring more than 70 participants to a full day filled with over 40 vendors and food trucks, live performances by Cliff and Susan, the Calvary Academy Choir, and Bad Habit, plus the carousel, train rides, and photo opportunities with Santa, the Grinch, and a certain familiar sister duo...the day was pure magic from start to finish.

A huge shout out goes to our parade participants, who went above and beyond with floats that were festive, imaginative, and perfectly on theme. We love seeing the creativity grow each year and cannot wait to see how the designs continue to evolve. (See right)

Once the sun went down, Sherwood's Christmas tree lighting and our first ever drone show took the celebration to a whole new level and created an unforgettable finale.

We also want to extend a heartfelt thank you to the sponsors who dedicated their time and resources to help make this event a success. Our presenting sponsor, McLarty Auto Group, along with Gwatney GMC, River City Hydraulics, Sherwood Florist, the Sherwood Chamber of Commerce, First Electric and Connect 2 First, Sherwood Parks and Recreation, and the Sherwood Advertising and Promotions Commission, all played a crucial role in bringing this day to life.

Our events team is always working to make each year better than the last. After this year's event, we sat down and discussed ideas to elevate the experience even more. One big takeaway was condensing the schedule with a later parade start time and a shorter overall event window, which we believe will help keep the energy high throughout the day. We are also planning to add even more free family activities, including more rides. And because December weather keeps us guessing from fans one year to heaters the next, we are preparing to increase the number of heaters and create a stronger plan to keep everyone warm and comfortable.

Sherwood is quickly becoming a true destination during the holiday season, and we are grateful to be part of the magic that helps shape the traditions of our community.

We are incredibly thankful to everyone who came out and celebrated with us. We hope to see you again next year, and if you have not been able to join us yet, go ahead and mark your calendars for December 5, 2026. It is shaping up to be the best Winter Fest yet!

CLEARING THINGS UP:

How City Processes Really Work

From time to time, questions about City operations generate a lot of discussion, especially on social media. While residents are often well-intentioned, some suggested “solutions” are not legally possible or do not reflect how City processes actually work. To help provide accurate, reliable information, we are introducing a new newsletter segment designed to explain common questions and clarify how certain City procedures function.

This edition focuses on property re-zoning, outlining what the law requires, who makes decisions, and how the public can participate in the process. The information below was prepared in collaboration between the City Planner and the Economic Developer to ensure clarity and accuracy.

What happens if a property owner wants to rezone their property?

Any property owner may request a zoning change and the city is required to vet the request. When a property owner seeks to rezone their property or submit a development proposal for review, the application is processed and formally presented by the City’s Planning Department. The Planning Commission reviews the request for compliance with the City’s adopted plans, ordinances, and applicable zoning standards, and considers public testimony at a scheduled public hearing. The Planning Commission then forwards a recommendation to the City Council. The City Council serves as the final decision-making authority on all zoning amendments and related land use requests.

Can the city choose to deny a property owner’s request for a zoning change?

The City cannot deny or block a zoning amendment request initiated by a property owner or a representative authorized to act on the owner’s behalf. It is the responsibility of the Planning Department to comprehensively review the application for consistency with the City’s adopted Comprehensive Plan, Sherwood Vision 2024. Staff then prepares a formal staff report, which is published and presented at a regularly scheduled Planning Commission meeting that includes a public hearing on the item. The Planning Commission considers the request, hears public comment, and formalizes a recommendation by vote to the City Council. The City Council is the final authority to approve or deny any zoning amendment.

Any resident interested in a more in-depth review of the requirements set forth for a zoning amendment is encouraged to review the Sherwood Zoning Code at www.sherwoodar.gov, specifically the minimum requirements for any zoning amendment application as outlined in §14.02.09, Zoning Amendments.

Can the city choose to deny a property owner’s request for a zoning change?

When a zoning amendment is denied, the applicant may appeal the decision to City Council by submitting a letter to the Planning Department within 30 days of receiving written notice of denial from the Planning Commission Secretary. The applicant must then follow the appeal process including public notification requirements. If no appeal is filed, the Planning Commission denial stands as the final action. After final action, an amendment application may not be filed for a site that has received final denial action within one year from the effective date of the denial action unless authorized by the City Council. Information regarding effect of denial in relation to zoning amendments can be found in Section 14.02.09.E.4.
